Tuesday, August 13, 2019

at

Hampton Roads Sanitation District

VIP Conference Room – 1st Floor

1434 Air Rail Ave., Virginia Beach, VA 23455

COST: $15 PER WORKSHOP

Noon-2:00 “Mediate to Learn” – Sally Campbell, Manager & Mandy Sarkissian, ADR Analyst, Dispute Resolution Services, OES, Supreme Court of Virginia, trainers -- 2 Hrs. non-Ethics CMEs

This is a highly interactive session based on role-plays and group work. In this session, groups will conduct role-plays involving difficulties that often trip mediators up like unresponsive parties, bickering parties, defiant parties, parties who want to rush, and those who are really stuck on “principle” Half the attendees co-mediate a situation and do their best to get through the difficulties presented (no termination allowed), while the other half will play the parties. The group will prepare for and reflect upon the mediation using DRS’s self-reflection form (ADR 1011), the “Mediator Self-Reflection Treasury” and party feedback. The goal of this session is to gain mediator insights and growth from aware, self-reflective mediating.

2:15-4:15 “It All Comes Back to Quality” – Sally Campbell, Manager, & Mandy Sarkissian, ADR Analyst, Dispute Resolution Services, OES, Supreme Court of Virginia, trainers -- 2 Hrs. Ethics CMEs

This hands-on course takes an in-depth look at the Virginia mediator ethical standards and how they encourage and support mediator quality. Using scenarios based on mediator complaints from the first decade of mediator certification, small groups will give the class a mini-ethics lesson based on the issues arising from their assigned complaint. .
